AWARDS & PRIZES

From the start of his career as a plumbing and heating engineer, Mario Martin has consistently won awards and prizes for the quality of his work and standard of service. Some of the many awards he has won include Tradesperson of the Year, Domestic Installer of the Year and Britain's Favourite Plumber, awarded by the Chartered Institute of Plumbing and Heating Engineering. Mario has never been toppled from his position as Britain's Favourite Plumber or Tradesperson of the Year - his double win of these awards was the last time the contests were held, so Mario remains unchallenged as the current holder of both these accolades.

Mario's achievements culminated with the coveted Master Plumber Certificate which was awarded for his proficiency in the "art, craft, science and practice of plumbing", together with the experience gained during his professional service, which now spans nearly 40 years.
